Important Message

CSIS is committed to augmenting a workforce that is truly representative of the Canadians it serves by cultivating a diverse and inclusive workplace environment. This will be achieved by increasing employment equity group representation (including persons with disabilities, racialized groups, Indigenous peoples, and women) at all levels within the organization through hiring and talent management practices. We will also ensure that appropriate accommodations are made (e.g., specialized equipment, changes to physical workspace) where possible to provide employment opportunities for all qualified candidates.

This position requires a language requirement of Bilingual Non-Imperative (BBB/BBB). This means that successful candidates who do not meet the language requirement of BBB/BBB may be eligible for language training. Candidates will need to complete language training and meet the language requirements of the job (BBB/BBB) prior to attending the Ottawa-based Intelligence Officer Entry Training.

Candidates will be assessed by the Public Service Commission of Canada to determine their proficiency in French or English (their second official language). Further information regarding language requirements and assessment tools can be found on the Public Service Commission’s Website: <https://www.canada.ca/en/public-service-commission/jobs/services/gc-jobs/language-requirements-candidates.html>

Job Summary

Successful candidates must have excellent interpersonal, analytical, and communications skills; they must be resilient and able to easily adapt in a fast-paced environment. CSIS is seeking candidates whose own diverse experiences will allow them to exhibit strong leadership abilities and work collaboratively with various communities. Candidates must be reliable and motivated to work in the field of national security.

Intelligence Officers are at the heart of Canada's national security apparatus. Successful candidates will undergo extensive training to help them operate successfully within the organization. Intelligence Officers are required to remain discreet while performing their functions and must always be security conscious.

Intelligence Officers are responsible for:

- Conducting, coordinating and managing investigations – this could be subject matter or country specific;
- Conducting research, analyzing information and preparing clear and concise reports on matters related to national security;
- Liaising with partners and developing information networks;
- Consulting and collaborating with counterparts and stakeholders;
- Providing sound, objective and professional advice.

Intelligence Officers have opportunities to relocate within Canada due to a variety of circumstances. Intelligence Officers must also be willing to travel as required by operational and organizational requirements. Assistance and financial support for relocation will be provided in accordance with CSIS policy.

Education

- Completed Undergraduate Bachelor's Degree

The educational program must be from an accredited learning institution recognized in Canada.

If you completed a program outside of Canada, you will be required to obtain proof of a Canadian equivalency at your expense through a recognized credential assessment service.

Important

Applicants must clearly demonstrate in their application how they meet each Education and Experience criteria. Failure to do so will result in the applicant being screened out of the career opportunity.

CSIS is a separate employer and is not subject to the Public Service Employment Act (PSEA). CSIS has its own classification, compensation system, and a different staffing regime. As such, we use a different staffing process and terminology.

CSIS is committed to building a workforce that is truly representative of the Canadians it serves by cultivating a diverse and inclusive workplace environment. This will be achieved by increasing employment equity group representation (including persons with disabilities, visible minorities, Indigenous peoples, and women) at all levels within the organization through hiring and talent management practices. We will also ensure that appropriate accommodations are made (e.g., specialized equipment, changes to physical workspace) to provide employment opportunities for all qualified candidates. In support of achieving a greater, diverse and skilled workforce, we strongly encourage those individuals who belong to one or more of the employment equity groups to self-identify when applying.

Should you require accommodation in relation to a disability, please tell us at the beginning of the selection process. This information will be kept confidential.

CSIS Offices in Canada are located on various ancestral and traditional lands. In the spirit of reconciliation, we acknowledge all Indigenous People across Canada and their connection to these lands.

The personal information provided in your application is protected under the Privacy Act and will be held in Personal Information Bank SIS/P-PU-025.

We thank all applicants for their interest in CSIS. However, only those who are selected for further consideration will be contacted.
